Hancom Office, one of the best alternatives to Microsoft Office

Microsoft Office Compatibility

When it comes to the compatibility issue, Hancom Office is one of the best alternatives to Microsoft Office. When opening office documents using other 3rd-party software, components such as layouts, fonts, charts and tables may be corrupted, or the document may fail to open completely.

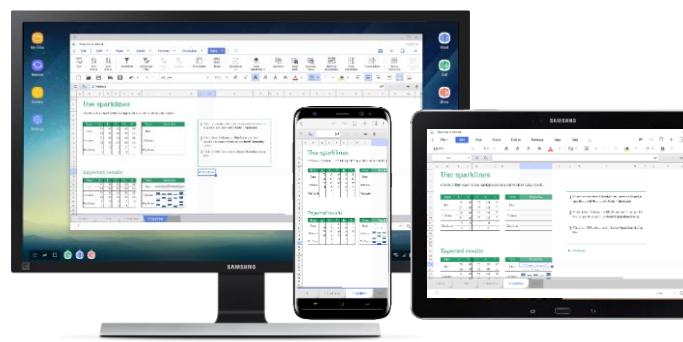

But for Hancom Office, compatibility is the most important matter. To provide highly compatible software, we invest huge resources into development and testing to secure extensive compatibility. Hancom also has a development center extension and QA center in Bangalore, India.

Though software cost is reduced, productivity is not compromised

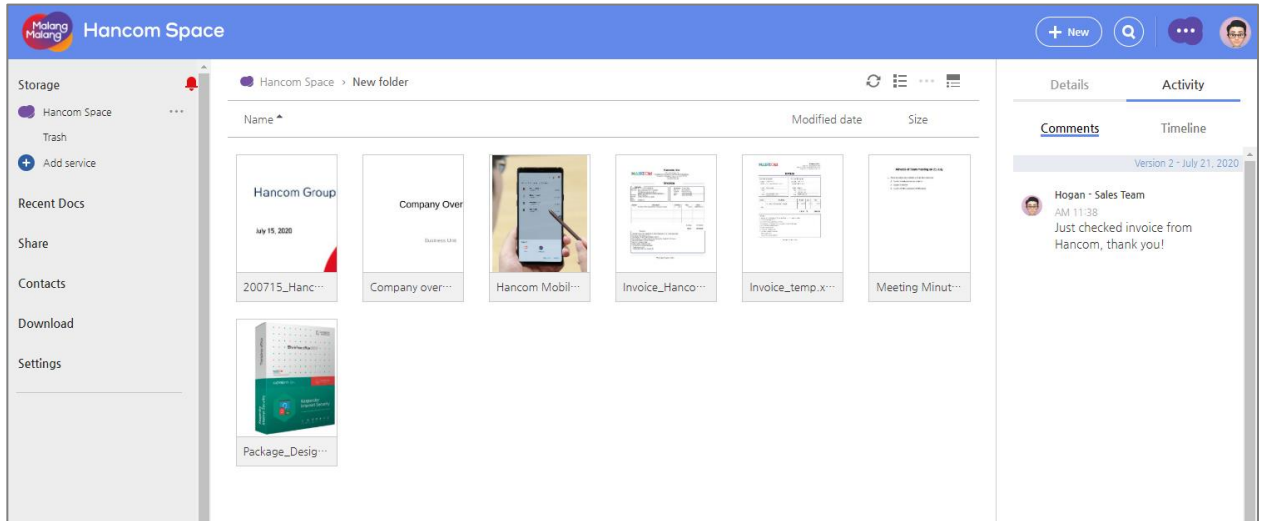

Nowadays many software is only available as a subscription. Though you can subscribe also to Hancom Office as a service, it is still available as a perpetual license too.

You don't have to pay for unused applications just because they are in the package. Hancom Office provides only essential office applications – word processor, spreadsheet, presentation and PDF tools – at an affordable price. All Hancom Office applications provide special features to convert PDF documents to editable Office-compatible documents and then saving them as PDF or various Office format documents.
